Apply now for a place on the QMentoring Programme

Eligibility Information

QMentoring is a programme for undergraduate students who study within the Faculties of Science and Engineering and Humanities and Social Sciences. Due to funder objectives*, students from these two Faculties, who are in receipt of the Queen Mary Bursary, will be prioritised for this programme.

Not sure if you are eligible?

The Queen Mary Bursaries are for undergraduate students who are liable for fees and have been assessed by Student Finance England (or other devolved nation) as eligible for means tested support towards their maintenance costs. Thus, the bursaries are awarded on the basis of a student's household income. The bursaries do not apply to EU students who are eligible for a tuition fee loan only, or international students.

If in doubt, you can check by logging into your Student Finance England (or other devolved nation) account and looking at the correspondence section. Alternatively, you can contact the Bursaries team by emailing bursaries@qmul.ac.uk.

“As a result of participating in QMentoring, I have not only improved my employability skills dramatically, but I have also developed hugely as a person, gaining confidence and a more positive mind-set towards a future in the tech industry.”

*Queen Mary is committed to ensuring all students achieve their full potential and has allocated substantial resources to this through the Access Agreement it holds with the Office for Students (OfS). Therefore, a number of student support and progression programmes are targeted at students from groups currently underrepresented in higher education.
